The Cal Aggie Alumni Association is pleased to announce our trip host, Dr. Joe DiTomaso, UC Davis alum and retired chair of the Department of Plant Sciences at UC Davis. In addition to his science career, Joe grew up in an Italian family and has traveled to Italy on numerous occasions, taking cooking classes and studying wines.

Italy has long been lauded as a place of cultural significance. The great empire of Rome made its mark on the Western world for over a millennium, influencing art and music from the days of ancient emperors through to the Renaissance. Experience Italy’s legacy with a journey to the scenic region of Umbria, which is dotted with ancient ruins, medieval villages, and natural wonders. Spend your days exploring the cultural treasures of Umbria and your nights sipping local wines over exquisite Italian cuisine. September brings harvest season, when wine and olive oil flow in abundance, making it an ideal time to visit. Let Italy sweep you away on this enchanted tour of Umbria.
